Hello!

I deeply appreciate you ordering Beautycounter from my small business.

Ingredients in personal care products are unregulated in the United States and some products currently on the market pose a risk to public health and to the environment.

I chose to partner with Beautycounter because I believe in their business practices and their social and environmental mission.

I've been researching clean products my entire adult life, and I love Beautycounter products because they're not only clean, but they're also incredibly effective.

I've listed many resources for you below. I encourage you to educate yourself on the ingredients in personal care products so that you can make conscientious choices for yourself, your family and the world at large.

Your dollar really does make an impact. Thank you for spending it with me and on the Beautycounter mission to get clean products into the hands of everyone.

All of my best,

Ishbel
